Dear Reader,

We finally made it into the world-famous Metropolitan Museum of Art! Not as an art exhibit, (although we continue to hold out hope), but as the focal point of The Costume Institute's fundraiser gala which featured the work of late fashion designer and couturier, Alexander McQueen. Guests included the who's who of celebrities, fashion icons and the media, all of whom were greeted by the "Giant Tree of Life" as they entered the main exhibit hall. Standing 30 feet tall and weighing in at approximately 4,500 pounds, our magnificent NatureMaker oak tree crossed the country in one week and was assembled in a mere 12 hours-a new speed record for us! Of course, we couldn't have done it without the help of our engineers, designers and the client's on-site crew members. It was a night of inspiration and beauty...one we'll remember for years to come.
